INTRANOLOGY ANNOUNCES iTRAIN AS PREFERRED TRAINING PARTNER Knowledge Management software company to use online training company to implement customized software solutions

January 15, 2001 – Atlanta, GA – Intranology, a Southeast-based software company offering a suite of web-based knowledge management applications, today announces iTrain as it's preferred training partner.

The two companies have joined forces to provide the marketplace with an easily deployable suite of knowledge management applications designed to create a single, Web-based source to centralize corporate business intelligence, automate business processes and provide collaborative capabilities throughout the extended enterprise—including mobile workers. iTrain's extensive training background allows Intranology customers to quickly and easily understand how the system works with their existing everyday activities, applications, and processes to ensure a rapid and smooth transition.

“We have chosen iTrain as our preferred training partner because of the company's depth of experience and its innovative leadership in learning solutions,” said Pat Patterson, Intranology CEO. “We feel that this partnership will allow us to offer a comprehensive solution complete with training and support to our customers, and are proud to be able to associate our name with that of iTrain.”

The Intranology interface is simple and straightforward to use and is designed to model and capture information from any business process once an organization has been trained on the functionality and breadth of capability offered to each user. The company has chosen iTrain to train new customers on the Intranology product because of its expertise in development and delivery of distance learning solutions. iTrain has significant experience in curriculum development, course delivery and hosting, application support via the web and e-learning consulting.

In addition to training Intranology customers on the system, iTrain has also implemented the Intranology Solution as its own intranet-based knowledge management tool.

“With Intranology, we can provide better project management for our clients, saving time and resources. Intranology is helping us significantly improve the ability of our instructional design teams to serve our customers by addressing their needs immediately,” said iTrain CEO, Shannon Lear Martin. “This software allows me to stay on top of our business indicators and make key decisions based on real-time information. I can view sales projections, see projects about to be completed, and assign tasks to my team from anywhere in the world”.
